

If you're going into post-16 education or training, your school or college will offer you a study programme — whether you're doing academic or vocational study (or a mix of both). Your study programme will be a tailored package. It's like an individual learning plan based on your qualifications and achievements,

- > Go to University
- > Look for employment
- > Go on to vocational or work-based qualifications, such as an apprenticeship.
- > Traineeship – if you are not quite ready for an apprenticeship a traineeship may just be the thing for you.
- > Part-time Education – if you are self-employed or volunteering for more than 20 hours a week you can also study part-time as well to support you in further improving your work skills
